What do you call someone who roped their first steer at age four and still rides and ropes at rodeos competitively? We call him Dr. Cunningham. He’s a second generation oral surgeon and a fifth generation Texas rancher. Whether he’s in the saddle or in the office he brings the same commitments: do it right, do it well. He’s had one important role model from the beginning, his dad. That’s who inspired him to enter dentistry and who set an example of providing compassionate care to everyone.

Dr. Cunningham does charitable work here and abroad, and he rodeos all across Texas!
